OVERVIEW AND HIGHLIGHTS:

The Inca Trail to Machu Picchu is one of the most famous trekking routes in the world and even if you are short of time, you can still get a taste of what people rave about! The Short Inca trail is shorter than the Traditional Inca Trail, but an interesting 2-day program that joins the classical 4-day route at the impressive archaeological site of Wiñaywayna, continuing through the famous Inti Punku or Sun Gate. Day two includes a full day visit of the world-famous Inca citadel of Machu Picchu. Highly recommended for those short of time and who don't want to camp but still have a "taste" of the Inca Trail!

The Rainbow Mountain Vinicunca is a beautiful hike, it is located in the mountain range of the Andes, in a section called Vilcanota mountain range, corresponding to the Cusco region in Peru. Its main summit is 6372 meters above sea level with large lagoons with a bright green/blue color.

ITINERARY:

DAY 01: CUSCO – KM 104 – WIÑAY WAYNA – MACHU PICCHU

You will be picked up at your hotel around 5.30am (depending on train time) and transferred to the Ollantaytambo train station. We travel by train, on a very picturesque route for 2 hours until we reach kilometer 104 - the start of the trail for us. Shortly after crossing the bridge over the Rio Urubamba, we visit the site of Chachabamba which is a lovely ruin with its water channels and fountains. (altitude 2,050m/6,726 ft.)

From here, we will hike upwards for about 8km/5mi (approximately 4 hours). The trail is well established, but there are still many stairs and the hike is mostly upwards! While this is one of the easiest treks around the Cusco region, you still need to have a reasonable level of fitness to complete it. After our upwards climb, we arrive at the Inca site Wiñay Wayna ('Forever Young') (2,680m/8,792ft) This is an impressive complex made up of an agricultural center with numerous terraces, a religious sector and an urban sector. Many consider this the most impressive site on the whole Inca Trail. We will have our boxed lunch at Wiñay Wayna.

We will then continue for about one hour further onto 'Inti Punku' (The 'Sun gate') (2,730m/8,957ft) from where you will have your first dramatic and impressive view of Machupicchu (2,400m/7,873ft). As you are arriving late in the day you may be lucky enough to enjoy the view by yourself! After getting those classic photos, we will walk down the last part of the trail towards the ancient city itself. Before entering Machu Picchu, we will take a side path off the trail to go down to Aguas Calientes, as we will visit Machu Picchu on day 2. We will take the bus down to Aguas Calientes where you will check into your accommodation, and a celebratory dinner (Not included) before getting to bed early in preparation for the next day's early start.
